SCORE OF PEOPLE BURNED TO DEATH

In Crash of Fast Trains on B. And O. Railway.

20 TO 30 PERSONS CREMATED

Ruins of Train Burns Up—Many Are Hurt Who Escape the Flames—Relief Trains Have Been Rushed to the Scene.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—A disastrous wreck ocurred Monday on the Baltimore and Ohio road at Woodville, Ind., 30 miles from this city. Reports so far are conflicting, but the majority of them place the number of dead at 5 killed outright in the collision, 20 to 30 others caught in the wreckage and burned to death and 25 seriously injured. The majority of the killed and injured are emigrants.

The accident is said to have been caused by confusion regarding signals which allowed the emigrant train to pass a station when a freight was approaching from the opposite direction. The two trains came together at full speed and the impact was so terrific that it wrecked both trains completely. A number of cars of the emigrant train were hurled down a 10-foot embankment and immediately caught fire. Although every possible effort was made to extricate them from the wreckage, the flames spread so rapidly that this was impossible in many cases, and it is certain that fully a score were burned to death before aid could be given them.

It is known that five of the emigrants were killed outright and the engineer of the emigrant train was so badly injured that his recovery is impossible.

Woodville is a small station about 10 miles north of Valparairso, Ind., and aid was immediately summoned from that place. A wrecking train, which was at once made up at Woodville, was dispatched along the line to secure medical aid and every physician within reach was at once on board of the train and hurried back to Woodville.

Later reports from the wreck declared that the number of dead was but five, and none of the immigrants were burned to death in the wreckage.

The colliding trains were express train No. 47, west bound, made up of express and passengers cars, and the freight train No. 96, east bound.

The express train had 150 passengers on board, nearly all of whom were emigrants. The railroad company gathered physicians from every available point and a wreck train from Chicago brought others. There were fifty at the scene to attend the injured. The wreck occurred on a curve, and the engineers had but little time to reverse their levers and jump.

Five persons were killed and twenty were injured, some of whom may die.

The collison was between a west bound immigrant train and a Chicago-New York east bound freight train. There were 135 immigrants on the passenger train. The last report says that up to 8:30 o'clock only one immigrant was found dead and as near as can be told, about 40 or 50 were missing. They may probably have scattered over the country. The entire immigrant train of six cars, was burned, as were three cars in the freight train. The fireman of the freight train is dead and Fireman Culler, of the immigrant train is badly hurt, and it is believed he can not live. Engineers Wrenneman and Burke, of the two trains, and baggage master Snyder, of the immigrant train, are badly injured. Both engines were turned over on the south side of the track and fell clear of the main track.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 13.—Reports from the Baltimore and Ohio wreck at Woodville, are that 45 persons are unaccounted for and are probably burning in the wreckage. Reports are very meager.

OLD VESUVIUS GETTING QUIET.

Naples, Nov. 13.—The column of smoke and ashes above Mount Vesuvius diminished materially Sunday. Naples is entirely free of smoke.

Slight detonations were heard Sunday, but the people are reassured and in long processions, carrying images of the Madonna and the Saints, they are re-entering their villages. In the churches the people are returning thanks for their escape from the dangers of an eruption. Ashes from Vesuvius are falling as far distance as Avellino, 80 miles away.

Professor Mattecucci, director of the Royal observatory on Mount Vesuvius, has been called to Naples by the prefect. He confirms his statement made Saturday that he does not think the present disturbance to be the beginning of a new eruption.

Snuff Warehouse Dynamited.

Nashville, Nov. 13.—The warehouses of the American Snuff company at Eddyville, Princeton and Fredonia, Ky., have been wrecked by dynamite. The Eddyville warehouse was blown up early Monday. The citizens of that place were awakened by the shock of the explosion, which shattered windows for a wide range. Bloodhounds were secured and followed the trail of the wreckers for 10 miles into Caldwell county. Several months ago trust warehouses in the southern part of Kentucky were dynamited and growers who sold tobacco to the trust received warning messages from the "Night Riders."

Rawlings Again Re-Sentenced.

Valdosta, Ga., Nov. 13.—For the fifth time, sentence of death was passed upon J. G. Rawlings today (Monday), Dec. 3, being the date fixed for execution. The south Georgia conference will be in session less than a block away at that time and efforts will be made to have the execution put off until after the conference meeting. When asked what he had to say before the sentence was passed, Rawlings made a short speech protesting innocence of himself and his boys, concluding with the warning to court, "If you do not give us a new trial, our blood will be upon your hands."

Mark Twain Ill.

New York, Nov. 13.—Mark Twain's attack of bronchitis, which prevented his being present at the dinner Saturday night to Henry M. Alden, continued Sunday to hold Mr. Clements a prisoner in his room at his home, No. 21 Fifth avenue. The autnour sent this message to a reporter who called to ask after his health: "This is only my regular yearly siege of bronchitis. I was attacked by it ten days ago, and retired to the privacy of my apartments to wait until it let go. Yesterday I took a little more cold but my illness has nothing serious about it."

Two Killed by Train.

Rarden, O., Nov. 13.—John Satterfield, aged 60 years, of Otway, a cripple, and Robert Slack, aged 40 years, of Portsmouth, were instantly killed by an N. & W. passenger train at Young Station. With Slack's young son they were attempting to drive across the track. The boy jumped and escaped harm. Satterfield's body was carried 100 yards on the pilot of the engine. The horse escaped.

Negro Shot to Death.

Yatesville, Ga., Nov. 13.—Jim Davis, a negro, living about 4 miles above here, was shot and killed by Frank Collier, his brother-in-law. Collier went to Davis' home in an intoxicated condition and when Davis tried to make him leave Collier pulled his pistol and shot Davis between the eyes. Collier has been arrested and is now in Thomaston jail.

Sneak Thief Makes Jewel Haul.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 13.—While the family was at dinner, a sneak thief entered the residence of Robert Day, on James street, the most fashionable residence thoroughfare of the city and looted a jewel box of diamonds and jewelry valued at about $4,000.

PITTSBURG LIKENED TO FRONTIER TOWN

Many Murders Occur During Past Week.

ONE ATTEMPT AT CRUCIFIXION

Three Murders, a Number of Robberies on the Highway, accompanied with Violence Have Occurred within Past 24 Hours.

Pittsburg, Nov. 13.—Pittsburg terrorized and likened to a mining camp or a frontier town, is the tone of all Monday morning's issues of the papers.

With three murders, a number of robberies, on the highway, accompanied with violence, and an attempt at crucifixion in 24 hours, added to the large number that have occurred during the past two weeks, there has been such a public demand for extra police that Mayor Guthrie and Director of Public Safety Ridgway Sunday night put on a number of extra police without legal provision for their compensation, trusting to the effect of public clamor upon the select and common councils for favorable action upon this move.

The record for 24 hours besides the murder of Henry F. Smith, a young business man of the fashionable east end, who was shot by burglars, who entered the Smith home, is extended by the robbery of Charles R. Lawrence, early Sunday morning at Fifth avenue and Brady streets, almost in the heart of the city.

Lawrence was knocked unconscious with a slungshot and robbed of a gold watch and all his money, while going home from the hotel Schenley, where he is employed as a waiter. He will be confined to his bed for a week with his injuries. Nicholas Lewis, of Sharpsburg, a few miles from the city, was beaten and robbed and did not recover consciousness for several hours.

Raymond White, of DuQuesne, was also found badly bruised with several ribs broken. He also had been robbed and could give no description of his assailants.

The Crucifixion case was brought to light by the screams of a woman in a tenement on Forbes street near the Jones and Laughlin steel mills. Neighbors rushed in and found Mrs. Jean Mitchell, 19 years old, in the kitchen, huddled in a kneeling position on the floor with both hands nailed to the draining board of the sink, with the blood running down her arms. Alongside the hand lay a hatchet, the weapon which had been used to drive the two big nails through her hands, and which was then used to draw them out.

The woman was unconscious, and was taken to the hospital. When she recovered she merely said that she entered her flat that morning, something struck her on the back of the head, and she felt herself drawn toward the sink, her hand pressed down against the board, and two nails driven through them.

The police are looking for William Neely, known as William Mitchell, and the husband of the woman.

The day's series of violent deeds was further augmented by the death of Stiriffia Randuci, an Italian, who was stabbed in a fight among railroad laborers in a boarding house. Three others were badly cut up with stilettos and razors.

Peter Naxidenci, an Italian, died in the Allegheny hospital from a bullet wound caused by Peter Todora. Naxidenci was playing a mandolin to which Todora objected, and threatened to shoot off the player's thumb. The threat was carried out, and in addition to carrying away the thumb, the bullet penetrated Nisadenci's abdomen. The slayer is under arrest.

General Shafter's Condition.

Bakersfield, Cal., Nov. 13.—The physician in charge gave to the Associated Press Monday morning the following information concerning General Shafter's condition: "General Shafter pass a restless night, but while his condition is low, it cannot be said to be sinking. Temperature 104, pulse 68, respiration 30."

WAS ROASTED MOST HORRIBLY

Macon, Ga., Nov. 13.—James L. Odom, piece workman in the Brown Manufacturing company wagon establishment here, met a horrible death in a fire that enveloped his room in a boarding house at the corner of Mulberry and Fourth streets.

The members of fire company No. 1 broken into the room and fought the flames desperately when it was announced that Odom was still on the inside, but when they reached him he was in a sitting posture on the edge of a bed roasted to death.

Odom was a boarder. The house is occupied by Monroe Middlebrooks.

Early in the night Odom was assisted to his room on the second floor. He had been drinking and was helpless. Occupants of the house supposed that Odom in some manner had turned over the lamp which was left burning on the table and he was unable to either call for help or extinguish the fire.

The roar of the flames awakened the inmates and an alarm was sent in. Engine company No. 1 is stationed hardly a stone's throw from the house and a quick response followed. The blaze was slowly eating its way from the room through the attic and out of the roof.

But a few moment's work stopped the fire, and as soon as the firemen had opportunity they searched for the man. He had moved from the bed on which he was placed, and was sitting on the edge of another. His hair was singed, his face and hands were blistered, and parts of his clothing were scorched, but otherwise he was not injured. Twice he gasped after he was rescued, but death came just as the firemen entered the room.

The remains were sent to Columbus for the funeral and interment.

Odom had no relatives in Macon. He was about 24 years of age, and earned a good salary at piece work in the wagon factory.

ROBBERS WORK AS FIRE RAGES

While the Flames Were Destroying Property, Store is Dynamited.

Hillsboro, Tex., Nov. 13.—While attention was directed to the outskirts of this city by two destructive fires, the hardware store of Smith & Thomas, located in the center of the business district of Hillsboro, was dynamited and partly wrecked by robbers.

After an exchange of shots, in which no one was injured, a man who gave his name as Walter Jeffries, and claiming Fort Worth, Tex., as his home, was arrested in the building where the explosion occurred. The fires, which resulted in the destruction of the lumber yards of Ole Wilkerson and several small buildings, causing a loss of $40,000, it is believed, were started by a confederate of Jeffries. As far as can be learned, nothing was taken from the store of Smith & Thomas.

Believe Firemen Will Strike.

New York, Nov. 13, Grand Chief Hannahan, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive firemen, in speaking of the strike vote now being taken by the Erie firemen, whose demands were refused by the railroad officials, said Saturday night: "From my observations at this end of the line, I am certain that the vote for a strike will be unanimous. We have not been looking for a strike, but any one who knows the hours of work on the railroads and the long strain on the men, coupled with the low wages, will realize that our demands are very moderate. We want to be only as fairly treated as men in other vocations."

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up: you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

CATHERINE BRIGHAM'S FUNERAL

Woman Killed by Her Husband Buried at Arredondo Cemetery.

Catherine Brigham, the victim of the tragedy of Saturday night, has been buried in the family burying ground at Arredondo. The relatives of the woman were notified and came for her remains, and she was buried under a Christian ritual.

In the meantime Brigham is a fugative from justice. Brigham is said to be a good man, and, while he might not have been justified in the action, it is the general opinion that he should never have made the attempt to get away.

The man whom it is claimed the woman met in the cane patch back of the Brigham home is known, and notwithstanding the fact that he is on the streets every day, he may be arrested as accessory to this crime at any time. All were negroes.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Roof of Handsome Home of S. J. Burnett Burned—Furniture Damaged.

At 10:55 a. m. Tuesday an alarm of fire was turned in, which summoned the department with its usual promptness to the home of S. J. Burnett, where the roof was on fire.

The department responded promptly, but there was no pressure of consequence, and before the pressure could be put on the building was well in flames. As a result the roof was burned off, the building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, and a quantity of furniture was damaged.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

Interesting Meeting at Home of Mrs. Francis H. Craighill.

A very interesting meeting of the Twentieth Century Club was held at the home of Mrs. Craighill on Monday afternoon. The president, Mrs. J. C. Lynch, had charge of the business meeting. A very interesting minute of the last meeting was read by Mrs. Dorsey, the secretary. Following this were the reports of standing committees, all telling of fine work done in the various departments.

Under the head of unfinished business, came a discussion of the question: "Shall we invite the State Federation to hold its next annual meeting with us?" All members present seemed anxious to extend an invitation to the Federation to hold its next meeting in Gainesville. This was put as a motion, was seconded, and carried without a dissenting vote.

Several other minor items of business were discussed. The names of six new members voted upon and accepted.

The subject for study was: "Our Civic Needs." The roll-call was answered with suggestions for the improvement of our city. Quite an interesting number was Mrs. B. F. Hampton's paper entitled: "Civics of Gainesville."

The "Table Talk" of "What we need along civic lines," was very enthusiastically discussed, and some excellent ideas presented for the improvement of our beautiful little city. All expressed themselves as well pleased with the improvements already made, and was very proud of our city and its officers, but anxious for still greater improvements.

The Club adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. A. M. Cushman, on Monday, Nov. 25, at three o'clock.

A BIG CROWD WAS PRESENT

Veterans, Sons of Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy Here From Every Section of State—Reception at Kirby Smith—Ball Tonight.

Tuesday opened bright, cold and clear, which made an ideal day for the opening of the exercises of the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, Florida Division. It was a day appreciated by everyone, after the rain, hail spell, and especially was it invigorating to the Veterans, who moved about the streets with alacrity, mingling with their comrades of trying days. One old soldier was heard to remark, "This weather makes me feel young and full of inspiration again, as it reminds me of the autumn days in Virginia when we boys were whipping the Yankees to a finish." It was indeed an interesting sight to witness the mingling and intermingling, the hand-shaking and greetings of the old soldiers, and even the younger set, who knew nothing about nor could appreciate the trying days with which their fathers and grandfathers had to contend, seemed to relish the situation. High officials in rank mingled with the modest contingency of the ranks, and all were equal, chatting together.

In accordance with the program, the meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock a. m. at the Tabernacle, Major-General Francis P. Fleming of Jacksonville presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rt. Rev. E. G. Weed, Chaplain-General of the Florida Division, which was followed by an address of welcome in behalf of the city by Attorney B. T. Ellis. Major Horatio Davis, commander of Stonewall Camp, Gainesville, was to have made the address of welcome in behalf of the Veterans of his Camp, but owing to his indisposition, this number was filled admirably and in a most interesting manner by Hon. Christopher Matheson, a member of the Sons of Veterans.

The response to the address of welcome was made by Brigadier-General J. C. Davant of Brooksville, commanding the Second Brigade. It was a masterful effort, full of interest and enthusiasm, and held the closest attention of the large audience, composed of Veterans, Sons of Veterans, United Daughters of the Confederacy and children.

At the conclusion of General Davant's address the session adjourned until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session opened at 3 o'clock, the large building well filled, by the singing of "Dixie" by Miss Carrie Goode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S Goode, and a charming daughter of the South who has the good fortune of a magnificent voice. The Veterans cheered heartily and with much enthusiasm over the rendition of this song.

Following this song came the annual address by Hon. H. H. Buckman of Jacksonville, Senator-elect from Duval county, and one of the most fluent orators in the State. Col. Buckman's remarks were confined to the Confederacy and the heroism of its soldiers, and for three-quarters of an hour he commanded the closest attention of the hearers, being frequently applauded. He is the son of a Veteran, and has always manifested a deep interest in the Confederate Veterans' organization.

The Kirby Smith Banquet.

Probably the most enjoyable event of the entire reunion to the Veterans was the reception tendered by Kirby Smith Chapter, U. D. C., which was given at the Tabernacle in their honor Tuesday night. All Veterans and their wives, members of the G. A. R. and their wives, Sons of Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy, sponsors and maids of honor were invited, with the result that a large crowd was present, and the evening was spent in such a delightful manner as will be remembered for a long time. A fine musical program was rendered, after which the time was spent in good fellowship, the great crowd mingling together, shaking hands and getting acquainted. It was apparent that, at the closing, there were no strangers in that large assemblage.

At the close of the musical program Mrs. W. H. Sebring announced that Kirby Smith Chapter, U. D. C., had endowed a scholarship in the University of Florida, to be awarded to the deserving and needy son of a Confederate veteran, that the program was now closed and the audience would mingle with each other and partake of refreshments.

During this occasion refreshments of chicken salad, coffee, etc., daintily prepared by the ladies, were served, and it is needless to add relished after the hard day's work of the Veterans. The ladies of Kirby Smith acted as a committee of the whole in the preparation of this reception, and are due a great deal of credit for its excellent success.

Veterans' Ball.

A grand ball is to be given by the Veterans at the armory tonight complimentary to their sponsors and maids of honor. This promises to prove a delightful climax of a most successful reunion, as elaborate preparations are being made for the function. It will be a grand affair, the like of which of its kind will never have been seen in Gainesville before. It will be attended by the elite of the State and city, as well as many of the Veterans, Sons of Veterans and Daughters, all of whom are anticipating a grand time.

The ladies of the J. J. Finley Chapter, U. D. C., together with other ladies of the city, have charge of the decorations and refreshments, which is an assurance that this feature of the ball will equal its other glories. The scheme of decoration will be palms with the colors and flags of the organization.

The following committees have been appointed for this occasion:

To receive at the door—Mrs. J. D. Stringfellow, first vice-president J. J. Finley Chapter; Mrs. John Chesnut, president Kirby Smith Chapter; Mrs. Patton Anderson of Palatka, Mrs. M. C. Drysdale of Jacksonville, honorary presidents State Division U. D. C.; Mrs. S. J. Thomas, Mrs. E. E. Cannon.

Why your baby should be thin, and fretful during the night. Worms are the cause of thin, sickly babies. It is natural that a healthy baby should be fat and sleep well. If your baby does not retain its food, don't experiment with colic cures and other medicine, but try a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and you will soon see your baby have color and laugh as it should. FEARFUL ACCIDENT NEAR HIGH SPRINGS

STRUCK IT WITH A HAMMER

Did Not Realize Danger of Contents And Endeavored to Break It Open With Fatal Result—Mother and Brother Near But Not Injured.

High Springs, Nov. 13.—A shocking and fatal event occurred a few miles from High Springs Friday. The young daughter of Martin Smith exploded a railroad torpedo, the fragments of which inflicted several wounds on head and arms, and one piece of the tin covering struck her neck with such force that the jugular vein was partially severed, causing her death from hemorrhage before surgical aid could be obtained.

She was cracking hickory nuts for her little brother, when he brought her a small object he had found, which he did not understand, and wished to investigate. Not knowing its explosive nature, she proceeded to open it, by laying it on a flat rock and striking it a blow with the hammer. This caused the explosion which resulted in her death in a few hours. Her mother and little brother were near but untouched. She was buried on Saturday at Tuscanooga church cemetery.

Saw Mill of Hieronymus Bros. Destroyed—No Insurance.

Mobile, Nov. 13.—At minight fire broke out in the big saw mill plant of Hieronymous brothers, Madison and Water streets, and is burning fiercely at 12:30 a. m., with a high north wind blowing. A general alarm calling out the entire department has been turned in. The saw mill plant will be a total loss, without a dollar of insurance.

The fire spread to the property of the Mobile Coal company, where the warehouses caught fire, but they were extinguished. Sparks carried by the high winds set fire to the mill of the mobile Hardwood company on the river front, south of the Mobile Coal company, destroying the plant yards.

The northbound passenger train on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was stopped south of the fire, and the passengers from Mobile walked to the city.

The fire spread along the river front being driven by the high north winds, which were blowing half a gale, and the fire threatened the Mobile marine ways and the Sullivan milling plant, one of the largest in this section.

The loss is estimated at more than $200,000.

BETTER DAYS COMING.

Railroad Magnate Harriman may be "above the level" of the rest of us, but it is dollars to doughnuts that he is riding for a fall. His latest attempt to rule the destinies of the Illinois Central railroad, which is about the last of the independent railroads, will, if successful, lead to his undoing, for the public will only stand about so much concentration in the hands of one man, and he is trying to overdo the thing. The magnates that control railroad combinations, the trust corporations, the express combine and others that charge "all the traffic will bear," will soon be feeling that life is hardly worth living when the long-suffering people get through with them. There will be no confiscation, no socialism, which is un-American, but taxes will have to be paid by these corporations like other people pay on the value of their property, and rates will be regulated so that surpluses will not pile up to be used for stock speculation, but there will be "equal rights to all and special privileges to none" in the days that are coming.

If you have made up your mind to live in a town, then stand up for it, and if you know positively no good, then silence is golden. Do all you can to help along every man who is engaged in legitimate business. Do not send away for everything nice you want and still expect the home men to keep a stock to suit the whim of one or two customers. The success of your fellow townsmen will be your success. No man liveth to himself and no man does business independently of his fellow business men. Take your home paper. Do not imagine the big dailies fill up all this space. There are many little crevices of a good cheer, social sunshine, personal mention, in the home paper that the big dailies do not print. Then do not abuse your neighbor. The main difference in the number of his faults and your own is that you see through a magnifying glass as a critic. The ill omened, the croaker, can do a town more harm in a minute than two good citizens can repair in a month.

All this talk about the Everglades now being drained by taxation of the whole people is mere "bluff." The Legislature only can levy taxes, and the next Legislature is no more likely to levy a tax to drain the Everglades than it is to pass a bill requiring whites and blacks to be taught in the same school. Neither will the next Legislature pass any sort of a drainage constitutional amendment. Drainage is dead so far as the next Legislature is concerned, and as Governor Broward will not occupy the executive chair after 1908, it is quite safe to wager that drainage is dead for several years to come.

The young men whose pockets are filled with cigarette wrappers, mustache combs, finger nail cleaners, miniature curling irons, looking glass, etc., and have their mothers cresse their pants every day, are not the ones who will make promising husbands. The pockets of those who are helping to make the country bloom and causing two blades of grass to grow where God planted but one, will be found filled with barbed wire staples and different sizes of nails and screws. They are the boys the girls had better look after.

Prof. Brander Matthews says the English language as now spelled is "violent, chaotic, illogical and absurd." Let's see, isn't there a vacant postoffice, judgeship, or something lying around loose for the Professor?

It costs as much these days to keep a war as an automobile. Cuba's little four-horse power "revolution" cost $5,000,000, and that doesn't count palm-leaf fans and gin-rickies for Secretary Taft.

A South Carolina editor wonders why it is that poets sing of women's "liquid eyes, Grecian nose and shell-like ears, but never mention her chin." Probably because they know the women themselves can be depended upon to furnish the chin music.

Banker Jacob Schiff of New York has joined the Stonemasons' Union. It is thought stone cutting at the advanced rate per hour will attract a large number of bankers away from the less profitable profession.

The court at Findlay, O., has assessed a fine of $5 000 against the Standard Oil Co., when it could have made it $6,000,000. It is presumed that the leniency was exercised out of consideration for the consumer.

Judging from the way he talks on various government features the Speaker of the next House is going to have his hands full of Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson.

CONSTIPATION

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you I am free from all that this morning. UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly recdited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly recdited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

DEADLY MUSHROOMS.

THE BEAUTIFUL BUT VENOMOUS AMANITA FAMILY.

Beneath the Pleasing Exterior of This Brilliant Fungus Lurks a Vicious Poison That Is Fatal to the Lives of Men and Cattle.

In the dark shade of lofty pine trees and under spreading oaks in more open woods a mushroom is found so remarkable in color and graceful in form that its beauty has excited admiration for hundreds of years. The color of its bright orange cap and its chalk white stem and gills is heightened by the surrounding darkness of the woods and presents a contrast as singular as it is beautiful.

But beneath the pleasing exterior of this brilliant fungus a poison lurks so fatal to the lives of men and cattle that it is called the deadly amanita, and in different countries mothers caution their children to beware of its charms.

Amanita muscaria, the deadly, or fly, amanita, is completely incased in a fleece-like covering during the early stages of its growth, which makes it decidedly egg shaped in form. As the stem lengthens this covering either adheres in loose patches to the top of the cap or it slips away and forms a sheathing to the cup at the base of the stem.

Another inner covering breaks away in its turn from the cap as the mushroom expands and forms a conspicuous collar about the upper part of the stem. The bulbous base of the stem and these ruptured, fleecy coverings are pronounced characteristics which are most helpful in distinguishing this dangerous fungus from the other varieties of mushrooms.

It is strong, free from pests and grows to a height from four to sixteen inches. In color the cap is sometimes bright scarlet, again orange or yellow or reddish in the center and light yellow toward the edges, and it has noticeable wartlike patches spread over the top. On old plants the color fades out, and late in the season particularly forms of the deadly amanita are found which are almost white. The stem is easily separated from the cup at its base.

This mushroom is more generally known than any of the other poisonous species. It has long been used as a fly poison in Europe, and it takes its name, muscaria, from the Latin word for a fly. Its poisonous effect upon human beings begins a few hours after it has been eaten. The symptoms are nausea and faintness, with cold perspiration and stupor, followed in severe cases by death from a gradual weakening of the heart.

A strong emetic should be given at once, and in all cases a physician should be called. Sulphate of atropin is the only known chemical antidote for this poison, and to save the patient it must be promptly administered by hypodermic injections.

The poison may also be absorbed through the pores of the skin, and bad cases of poisoning have been produced by simply holding an amanita in the closed hand or breathing its exhalations in a warm room.

If poisonous mushrooms are packed in the same box with edible ones the virus from the poisonous fungi is absorbed by the harmless mushrooms, and they become as dangerous to eat as the original offenders.

In certain countries the deadly amanita seems to lose some of its virulency, and in the north of Russia and parts of northeastern Asia it is used in the same manner as wine for its intoxicating effects. The mushrooms are gathered in hot weather and are hung up in the air to dry or they are sometimes picked fresh and put into soup or sauces. A small amount swallowed whole is enough to produce a day's intoxication.

Another fatally dangerous member of the amanita family is the death cup (Amanita phalloides), a beautiful mushroom which also grows in the woods, especially in pine forests. It is not so highly colored as the deadly amanita, and, unlike that mushroom, it has a smooth, satiny cap. It is usually white or straw colored, but specimens are found which are light brown, green, yellow and spotted. The stem is white and nearly smooth, and the cup at the base of the stem is invariably present.

The death cup is even more poisonous than the deadly amanita and stands first among all noxious fungi for its poisonous qualities. It grows in the eastern and middle states and in particularly large quantities near the city of Washington.

Another amanita (Amanita vernus), found in the woods in spring, is also very poisonous and may be told by its color, which is a creamy white throughout.

Although it is said that the amanitas are the only mushrooms which have proved fatal to human life, there are other varieties which cause such acute distress that it is well to guard against eating them.

The boleti, for instance, have several varieties which are inedible, although many kinds, on the other hand, make delicious food. The boleti are distinguished by a sponge-like surface of pores instead of gills beneath the cap. The harmful varieties are bitter, as a rule, and change color to blue or red when cut or broken. The edible varieties remain white.—Annie Oakes Huntington in Youth's Companion.

Made Happy For Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse, until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by all drug stores. Price, 50c.

TESTING METHODS

A test as to the value of newspaper advertising over other methods was made a year ago by the great publishing house of Harper & Bros. Two books were selected, one by a well known popular author and the other by an unknown writer. The latter was selected for the newspaper advertising and the other for the usual channels.

With equal expenditure the work advertised in the newspapers outstripped the other in sales by 200,000 copies.

The result was a complete surprise and established the fact that readers go to the newspapers for information with regard to books as well as with regard to most other matters.—National Printer-Journalist.

The best advertising mediums for any merchant is the local paper which goes into the homes of the people, as this paper does.

Millions of Buffaloes Once Ranged the Western Plains.

The early explorers who describe the buffalo numbers do not give us anything more exact than superlative expressions, such as "countless herds," "incredible numbers," "teeming myriads," "the world one robe," etc. I have endeavored to get at a more exact idea of their numbers.

The total area inhabited by the buffalo was about 3,000,000 square miles. Of this the open plains were one-half. According to the figures supplied me by A. F. Potter of the forest service, the ranges of the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Texas and Oklahoma (a total of about 750,000 square miles, or half of the plains) were, according to the census of 1900, carrying 24,000,000 head of cattle and horses and about 6,000,000 head of sheep. This means that when fully stocked they might sustain a number of buffalo at least equal to the number of cattle and horses. The buffalo had to divide their heritage with numerous herds of mustang, antelope and wapiti. On the other hand, the buffalo could find a living where a range animal would starve, many of the richest bottom lands are now fenced in, and we have taken no account of the 6,000,000 sheep. Therefore we are safe in placing at 40,000,000 the buffalo formerly living on the entire plains area.

Their prairie range was a third as large, but it was vastly more fertile—indeed, the stockmen reckon one prairie acre equal to four acres on the plains. Doubtless, therefore, the prairies sustained nearly as many head as the plains. We may safely set their population at 30,000,000. The forest region was the lowest in the rate of population. For its 1,000,000 square miles we should not allow more than 5,000,000 buffalo. These figures would make the primitive number of buffalo 75,000,000.

Many other calculations based on different data give similar or slightly lower totals. From these facts it will appear very safe to put the primitive buffalo population at 50,000,000 to 60,000,000.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Scribner's.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease have disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to anyone suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." Once Upon a Time In France.

There was a time in France when a foolish actress who was ambitious enough to want a decoration and so ill advised as to make application for it to one of the ministers was punished by imprisonment. It was during the reign of Louis XV., and the first gentleman in waiting of his majesty wrote this to the governor of the Fort l'Eveque prison:

Dear Sir—Having been informed that Mlle. Clairon has had the insolence and has been mad enough to solicit one of the king's decorations, to which neither her sex nor her profession entitles her, I write you this letter in the name of the king. You are to lock her up in your good prison of le Fort l'Eveque and make things sufficiently uncomfortable for her to teach her a lesson. Every evening, however, one of your men will have to conduct her to the Comedie Francaise in order that the public shall not be deprived of the pleasure of applauding the talent of this indiscreet woman.

No Case of Pneumonia on Record.

We do not know of a single instance where a cough or cold resulted in pneumonia or consumption when Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken. It cures coughs and colds perfectly, so do not take chances with some unknown preparation which may contain opiates, which cause constipation, a condition that retards recovery from a cold. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. J. W. McCollum & Co.

JUSTICE OF THE HEARTH.

A Standard That Might Well Be Adopted by All Society.

Over the dinner table a husband was telling his wife of the financial misdealings of one of their social acquaintances, a wealthy and popular man. He had contrived the ruin of a certain company and its subsequent reorganization, a process which had put money into his pocket and taken money from innocent stockholders.

The husband touched the facts lightly, because he thought that a woman could not be interested in them or understand them in detail. This woman's understanding throughout her husband's narrative was occupied with one or two simple questions.

"Is he to be punished?" she asked.

"Punished? How? His conscience won't punish him—indeed, he probably thinks he has obeyed the rules of business. The law technically is broad enough to cover his case, but it is hard to get evidence. You see, the district attorney must"—

"Excuse me for interrupting, dear. Explain that to me later. I think we shall not dine there next Wednesday. I will write a note to Mrs. Berry."

"Not dine there? Why not?"

"Because he is not a fit man to receive in our house or for us to visit."

"But nonsense! He's just as good a fellow, just as respectable"—

"One minute. By your own words you prove that he is a wicked man, taking what is not his. I listened to your story until there could be no doubt that you yourself condemned him by the facts, which I do not understand. If what you say is true he and I meet no more as equals."

And her judgment stood. Of course her neighbors and friends pursued the usual course of accepting a man in social relations whom their husbands distrusted in business.

But the standard of the hearthstone—shall it not some day be the standard of all society?—Youth's Companion.

Had a Close Call.

"A dangerous surgical operation involving the removal of a malignant ulcer as large as my hand from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says A. C. OUR POISONOUS SNAKES.

The Symptoms That Come From the Venom of Their Bites.

Notwithstanding the fact that there are many poisonous snakes in this country, cases of snake bite are not common. They occur frequently enough, however, to make it worth every farmer's or country roamer's while to familiarize himself with the poisonous effects upon the body of snake venom and the best means to overcome those effects.

The most common of the poisonous snakes in this country are the coral snakes, the copperhead, the water moccasin and many varieties of rattlesnakes. The symptoms of poisoning vary somewhat according to the variety of snake and also to the state of the weather and the condition which the snake is in at the time. The poisonous effects are more marked the hotter the weather at the time, and the bite of a well fed snake is more harmful than that of one which is fasting.

The symptoms of snake bite are both local and general. In the case of rattlesnake bite the local symptoms consist in severe pain and very great discoloration about the wound, due to the suffusion of blood under the skin. The part becomes greatly swollen and may even mortify.

The general symptoms come on quite rapidly. Sometimes within ten or twenty minutes of the bite there is a rapid and weak pulse, the victim is nauseated, often vomits, staggers as he walks and suffers from marked and increasing prostration. Death may occur directly from the action of the venom or it may follow later and be due to prostration resulting from the gangrene occurring at the site of the bite.

Recovery, which occurs in about three-quarters of the cases of rattlesnake poisoning, even when untreated, is very prompt, the symptoms of depression disappearing as rapidly as they came on.

When one has been bitten by a poisonous snake, the first thing to do is to prevent the entrance of the poison into the general circulation, which is to be done by tying a cord or a strip of cloth as tightly as possible about the limb above the bite. Then the part bitten should be cut freely with a sharp knife, with two or three cross cuts, so that it will bleed freely.

Sucking the wound is good for the victim, but dangerous for the person who does it, for the poison may be absorbed through any small abrasion near the mouth.

The elimination of the poison that may have been absorbed should be promoted by the use of purgatives and wrapping the victim in blankets, with hot bottles to promote perspiration. Alcohol is of service in moderate quantities, but it should never be taken in amount sufficient to produce intoxication.—Youth's Companion.

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick, troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup? Such a man exists. Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado, writes: 'For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me.' Sold by W. M. Johnson.

MARY AGNES PERRY

Mrs. Charles Perry of Glens Falls, N. Y., writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter had lost flesh, was thin, pale and sickly, and nothing seemed to do her any good. Having heard of Vinol we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous. It restored her appetite and she is gaining in weight right along; the color has returned to her cheeks and she seems stronger than she has for years."

Every mother in Gainesville is asked to try Vinol. It certainly does make children robust, strong and healthy. Vinol is a pure cod liver and tonic iron preparation, without a drop of oil to retard its work. It is delicious to the taste and children love it.

We have never sold anything in our store equal to Vinol to create strength for old people, weak, sickly women and children.—W. M. Johnson, Druggist.

NOTE—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Gainesville, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Morning train puts you in Tampa in time for supper. See Mr. Cobb.

Long famous for strange and curious forms of animal life to be found in no other zoological gardens, Cole Brothers' triple menageries this year contain an exhibit which is just now occupying the attention of scientists and naturalists everywhere. It is the only black camel ever seen in captivity and the only wild one ever brought to this country. Prof. Knuede, who has given a great deal of study to the subject, claims he finds this remarkable beast a descendant of the few which survived the storms which about the year 1700 overwhelmed the village of the Gobi plateau and killed all of the people. At any rate it is a prize of which any show might justly boast and yet it is but one of the many invaluable displays made by Cole Brother's United Shows, which are to be seen in Gainesville Thursday, Nov. 22.
